Mission Furniture that Will With-stand Rough Usage By the Children

Artistic
Yet Strong

At first glance you're impressed with its rugged strength while a thought impresses you with its homely yet quaint design. We must thank the crude old mission fathers for such beauty in the rough. Strangely, too, the idea is carried into the wood itself, whose grain stands out impressively in the fumed oak from which it is made. A large number of pieces are

The Bion to-night gives twenty per cent. of its gross receipts to the lumpsum benefit fund. This fact should insure a large attendance. The program is entirely new there to-day. One picture, "The Art of Swimming as Taught at the Government Naval School," is extremely interesting and very instructive. Shows just what good training the boys get there.

"The Dancing Girl of Paris" is a fine romantic love story, as shown in a picture to-night at the popular Dreamland theatre. A young newspaper artist by mere chance falls in with a pretty but lonely girl, and love at first sight is the result. There are situations to be cleared up, and that's what makes it so interesting. It is a Biograph. Another is an exciting Selig smuggling picture.

E. L. Smith & company have fitted up new offices on the second floor of the C. W. Averill block. The offices include the whole of the second floor, with the exception of two rooms occupied by the Wells, Lamson company, and have been finely equipped. The large room at the front, which was used by the Cosmopolitan club as a reading room, has been made into a reception room, and back of this are four rooms for offices.

A London, Ont., paper just at hand contains a report of the annual meeting of St. James' Presbyterian church of that city, which has had another very prosperous year under the pastorate of Rev. T. H. Mitchell, formerly of this city. The present membership is 508. The total receipts the past year, exclusive of missions, were $7,071.80, and the expenditures $7,066.82. The indebtedness has been reduced by $1,580.92, and in addition the sum of $544.25 has been expended on gallery seats and repainting the church. The total amount contributed for missions was over $2,200, being an average of $4.23 per member.

1910 GINGHAMS

These New Gingham have a look about them that will appeal to one as being just about right. These New Gingham are well displayed in our window and as there will be more of these goods sold during the next eight weeks than at any other time of the year it will pay you if you like pretty styles to be here very soon and make your selections.

Ginghams

When the snow is deep and the March winds blow the lady of the house likes to plan for herself and the children their Spring and Summer gingham dresses.

We are selling a good Gingham in both dress and apron styles now at 8c per yard. (A good fine heavy gingham.)

All of our Told De Nord Gingham are very well styles. These are made by the Park Hill Manufacturing Co. and are one of the very best Domestic Gingham on the market, being equal to any the Gingham and sells for a while at only 12 1-2c per yard. Later orders will cost more if styles are equal.

Ginghams

When we ask you the same price on Gingham as last year it means to us from 1-2 to 1 cent less profit, as all Gingham are costing that amount more. Yes, Amoskang Apron Gingham are costing 1-2c more and we will not be able to maintain present prices very much longer.

A. F. C. Gingham, a staple Gingham that in past seasons has not been any great for style. This year they come in some of our best styles and this, coupled with a good fine thread closely woven, makes a very desirable Gingham at the price, 12 1-2c per yard.

These are large dark plaid so desirable for immediate use.

Ginghams

Our full line of Imported Scotch Gingham are now in stock and selling well at the price, 25c.

Last season several patterns of Scotch Gingham sold at 25c and 35c, this time your choice for 25c.

We have a small lot of 25c Scotch Gingham that are soiled and mused up from our January sale that are on bargain counter now at 15c per yard. (A good loss on these.)

Gingham are being trimmed with lace and lace bands, with embroideries and wash bands. There are several good brands and lace on our bargain table at rear of store.

We are sure to show you some very swell Wash Goods this season. Cut your garment by a New Idea 10c Pattern for very best results.

"J. m. b. l. e" social is taken from retired list and will be held next Wednesday evening, February 9, at 7:30 o'clock. Congregational church parlors.

Nichols' social, held in connection with his dancing class, have increased in popularity from the start, and it is not expected that the last of the series, which will be held Tuesday, the last evening before Lent, will be an exception. Riley's, the snappiest orchestra in the city, furnishes music.

SOUTH BARRE.

There will be a social at the residence of Rev. A. Woodruff next Saturday evening.

LENT

Begins Feb. 9, Wednesday

A great many people will eat meat during Lent only once a day. Three meals a day makes 84 meals in February. People who observe Lent will eat fish for 43 meals and meat for 41 meals.

Our facilities for handling fish in a sanitary manner are the most up-to-date in the state.

Our men that handle the fish understand their business.

Our prices are right as we are not depending only on fish days. Wouldn't you like to have our order man call on you not only for fish orders, but for meats, groceries, bakery goods, in fact, everything to eat.

A SECOND MEETING.

The Earl of Stanhope and the Trusting Highwayman.

One night when the Earl of Stanhope was walking alone in the Kentish lanes a man jumped out of the hedge, leveled a pistol and demanded his purse.

"My good man, I have no money with me," said Lord Stanhope in his remarkably slow tones. The robber laid hands on his watch.

"No," Lord Stanhope went on, "that watch you must not have. It was given to me by one I love. It is worth £100. If you will trust me, I will go back to Chevening and bring a £100 note and place it in the hollow of that tree I cannot lose my watch."

The man did trust him. The earl did bring the note. Years after Lord Stanhope was at a city dinner, and next to him sat a London alderman of great wealth, a man widely respected. He and the earl talked of many things and found each other mutually entertaining.

Next day Lord Stanhope received a letter, out of which dropped a £100 note. "It was your lordship's kind loan of this sum," said the letter, "that started me in life and enabled me to have the honor of sitting next to your lordship at dinner."

A strange story, but the Stanhopes are a strange race, and things happen to them that never did or could occur to other people.—London Spectator.

Why He Was Late.

Pat was late again, and the foreman was dealing out the usual reprimands. "Nine o'clock," he said. "What do you mean by coming at this time of the day? I wonder a man of your means troubles about coming at all. Now, then, what's your excuse?"

Pat considered for a moment, and at last the excuse came.

"Sure, sor," he said, "I dreamed last night I were at a football match which ended in a draw."

"What about that?" interrupted the foreman.

"Well, sor, the referee ordered an extra half hour to be played, and, begorra, I only stopped to see the fish."

—San Francisco Chronicle.

An Effective Alarm.

Flannigan had been discharged from the artillery and went to live in a cottage in his native village. One day he left on a week's visit to some distant relatives, and a day later the village constable was standing at his door when he heard the sudden boom of the rusty cannon Flannigan had mounted on his front hedge.

An instant later a brick whistled past the constable's ear and smashed his door to smithereens.

The indignant officer, followed by the populace, rushed to Flannigan's cottage and found it still tenanted, but showing signs of recent burglary.

When Flannigan returned the next week he heard the news and was delighted.

"O! prepared for burglars afore Oi went away," he said, "by trainin' the gun on yer front door, constable, and connectin' it by secret wires to the doors and windows and loadin' it with a brick. An' it hit the door slap in the middle! Bedad, Oi wasn't a gun-layer in the artillery for nothin'!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Glory is, after all, the thing which has the best chance of not being altogether vainly.—Hanan.
